Property Description

Location:

This exceptional new development has been conceived as a collection of organic, one-of-a-kind residences, combining the privacy and sophistication of a villa with the privilege of absolute seafront living.

Each residence has been designed with its own individual character, creating a unique dialogue between architecture, natural light, and the surrounding Mediterranean landscape.

The building itself follows a distinctive trapezoidal form that opens toward the sea, allowing every interior space to embrace panoramic views through expansive floor-to-ceiling windows.

Like wings opening toward the horizon, the architectural concept maximises light, openness, and direct visual connection with the Mediterranean, while the narrower side of the structure remains connected to the land and its natural surroundings.

Every architectural detail follows a philosophy rooted in balance, fluidity, and timeless design. Wood, marble, and glass define the material palette, chosen for both their aesthetic presence and exceptional quality.

Glass introduces lightness, transparency, and continuity between interior and exterior spaces. Marble brings elegance, serenity, and permanence, while wood adds warmth, texture, and a natural connection to everyday living.

Designed by SENDA Projects in collaboration with ARAGON Arquitectos, the project introduces a distinctive architectural vision on the Costa del Sol, where every detail has been carefully curated to express contemporary sophistication.

From the elegant lobby lounge to landscaped terraces and private retreat areas, the development offers a seamless living experience where nature and architecture exist in complete harmony.

Inspired by the forms, textures, and sensations found in nature, the design reflects a contemporary architectural language where organic expression becomes part of daily life.

Water, greenery, natural materials, and open views shape an atmosphere of calm, where each residence offers both visual beauty and emotional balance.

The result is a place where time appears to slow down — a refined coastal environment designed for those who value serenity, design, and direct connection to the sea.
